Wake Up America!

While awaiting the negotiator to sign over my heritage -- my land and home -- to the Federal government, I feel compelled to inform the Appomattox taxpayers what can happen to honest citizens in America.

If the government wanted my property for a worthwhile cause, I would gladly sell. However, we were told the government is buying our land to preserve it for the next ninety-nine years.

Two years ago ten landowners near the Park were invited to the Old Court House to a meeting, and were told that the Park wanted to expand. Our land would be included in the expansion, but we had nothing to fear, because we would have lifetime tenancy, would not have to pay taxes nor rent, and furthermore the Park would be responsible for the maintenance, even to the cutting of the grass. Really an Utopian scheme!

Being honest citizens, we believed the integrity of the speaker, but we learned a year later that we had been misinformed. At a second meeting, we were told that a law had been passed in Congress, Which meant that the Park would acquire not only our land, but our homes. I could sell my home and then rent it, but with these restrictions:

I must pay in a lump sum rent for each year of my life expectancy, I am responsible for the upkeep of the house and the one acre of land, I must pay the insurance on the house, for which I would receive only my rental part if anything happened to the house. Does this sound like a fair business deal to you?

As soon as I was aware of the law, I started my correspondence. First, I wrote to both my Congressman and Senator with this response, "I am sorry that I can not help you." Surely the President will have power to preserve my heritage, I thought; however from his side, the answer came back: "The President can do nothing for you." If the Legislative and Executive Departments have no power to help honest taxpayers, then Who Can? What has happened to "the government of the people, by the people, and for the people?"

I realize that I have done all that I can do, but I feel that you should be made aware of the power of the Federal government over innocent taxpayers. Therefore, awake, Citizens, because you, too, could lose your heritage.

The Pastor Speaks

Living in the last days of the church age as the Bible declares we are, presents an exciting challenge for today's Christians. However, we must recall the warnings of events that will mark these days as being treacherous as well as challenging.

II Timothy 4:3&4 says "For the time will come...and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables..." We see the reality of this verse being fulfilled today as people turn from the true word of God to the fables of men's philosophies and suppositions about God and His word.

Infidels and agnostics have always tried to discredit God's word, many of which have been buried while the Truth still lives. But today we find a breed of ever-increasing religious philosophers who feel that they have been commissioned to "declassify" God's word from "Truth" to traditional stories, legend, or mythology. These people proceed to tell the world how they ought to live, as if the Holy Spirit who moved on men to both speak and write had not been commissioned to modern society. They would have the facts ignored and bypass the principles and doctrines of the Bible for modern man's conclusions.

In these days men are turning to fables but it doesn't change the Truth. 1 Peter 1:23 states the word of God liveth and abideth forever, and the Psalmist says "Forever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven." (Psalm 119:89) So 'let God be true and every man a liar.' (Romans 3:4)

His word is settled in heaven and cannot be changed but men can be changed by it. Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word.

We will without a doubt continue to have religious philosophers and false teachers with us until Jesus comes, but thank God for the Truth that still sets men free and charts a straight course through boisterous seas to a safe harbor called heaven where the Captain of our Salvation awaits.

Currently, the most extensive efforts that can be made without unduly upsetting the economy or wasting natural resources are being made by some American industry to control pollution. For two decades, for instance, workers at Du Pont have been protected by over $90 million worth of noise controls. There are new federal proposals, however, that would result in no significant improvement in employee health and could cost $750 million.

In 1874, Pierre Janssen a French pioneer of solar physics and of photography, made the first film recording of the transit of Venus across the sun.
